This project was to be a demonstrator for a future interplanetary mission to the Moon. The mission design was to launch on the launch vehicle GSLV Mk-III. The project was cancelled on 24 June 2008. The reason for the mission cancellation was the failure of a BaNi type-B thermonuclear device used as the upper stage ignition device of the

Teleblast is a fast-paced, local multiplayer, combat game that takes place in a futuristic teleportation universe. Up to 4 players can take to the arena to try to outplay and outblast their opponents in a round-by-round battle for supremacy. The concept is simple, up to 4 players each have a teleporter that they can shoot out and teleport to. As the distance travelled by the teleporter influences the size of the explosion, simple gameplay can be highly strategic and tactical! The game features a wide array of maps, game modes, and modifiers that allow you to customize your game and keep each match fresh and exciting. The simple concept will keep you and your friends engaged for hours! Is Teleblast cool? Please install the latest version of Microsoft.NET Framework 2.0 if available, or alternatively install Mono. I get an error or inconsistent performance when running Teleblast. What should I do? First, try updating DirectX. Click the "Help" tab at the bottom of the Windows Start menu, open the "Control Panel" app, select "Display," and then click the "Device Manager" button. If your hardware supports 64-bit versions of DirectX (which you probably do), try downloading and installing DirectX 10 from Microsoft. If your hardware does not support 64-bit versions, try installing the latest version of 32-bit DirectX. Click "Yes" and then "Try again" when it says you need a c9d1549cdd
