Proliferative capacity of Sertoli cells declines with age. The decline in proliferation with age is thought to be due to a reduction in growth-promoting signaling molecules, in particular growth hormone. Hypoxia, which is associated with aging, may be a factor in the decline in Sertoli cell proliferation. The present studies determined the effect of hypoxia (PO₂ 10 mmHg for 48 h) on the proliferation of Sertoli cells isolated from neonatal and adult rats in the presence or absence of added growth hormone 6d1f23a050
